

J O R I A N H I L L

CITY & SHORE

CHARDONNAYSAYERS

There is more to white wine than oaky chardonnays. Much more.

“There are dozens of white wine grapes grown throughout the world. The white wines listed below, however, can be found in most markets, are affordable and deserve our attention. If you've enjoyed some of these, bravo; now sample the ones you haven't:

Viognier

Originated in the Rhône valley region of France, where the grape yields dry, rich, floral wine. California viogniers can deliver light floral or heavy floral flavors. You can experiment on your own or ask your favorite wine merchant to recommend a California viognier (I like the Jorian Hills).”

-Bob Hosmon
October 2011