

J O R I A N H I L L

THE KITCHN.COM

It's California Wine Month Again!

“September is California Wine Month, the seventh consecutive year declared as such by California's governor. While a significant amount of the wine bears the generic ‘California’ designation, the state is awash with diversity when it comes to wine. Maybe this is a chance to explore some of the less well-known sub-regions and AVA designations.”

2009 Jorian Hill Viognier

“From the Central Coast region. Rich and layered showing aromas and flavors of tropical, stone and citrus fruit. Despite the richness, it is not heavy on the palate. Fresh acidity adds a lovely vibrancy. Fleshy yet juicy texture and lively on the palate. Quite persistent flavorful finish.”

Recommended

-Mary Gorman-McAdams
September 15, 2011